

Yellow warning
Wind

Between
18:00 Sat 25 Jan 2025 and
06:00 Sun 26 Jan 2025

Strong and gusty winds potentially leading to some disruption to transport and infrastructure

What to expect

- Some delays to road, rail, air and ferry transport are likely
- Probably some bus and train services affected, with some journeys taking longer
- Delays for high-sided vehicles on exposed routes and bridges likely
- Some short term loss of power and other services is possible
- It's likely that some coastal routes, sea fronts and coastal communities will be affected by spray and/or large waves

Further details

Winds will increase across the area Saturday evening in association with bands of showers.
Gusts of 45-55 mph are likely, especially for coasts and hills.
Showers and strong winds will ease and clear Sunday morning.

Whilst these sorts of wind gusts are not unusual for the area, after Storm Éowyn, impacts may be more likely than normal.

What Should I Do?

✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts

Give yourself the best chance of avoiding delays by checking road conditions if driving, or bus and train timetables, amending your travel plans if necessary.

People cope better with power cuts when they have prepared for them in advance. It's easy to do; consider gathering torches and batteries, a mobile phone power pack and other essential items.

If you are on the coast, stay safe during stormy weather by being aware of large waves. Even from the shore large breaking waves can sweep you off your feet and out to sea. Take care if walking near cliffs; know your route and keep dogs on a lead. In an emergency, call 999 and ask for the Coastguard.

Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.
